bodyfurn® lab stool

These versatile stools are ideal in science and technology spaces and perfect for students who like to sit up high.

Like the entire Bodyfurn® range, the Lab Stool has been designed with comfort and movement in mind. When students are comfortable they learn better.

Paired with high tables they work well as watchtowers, where students can look over the room. The pivoting seat allows students to sit up straight or lean forward. For students who prefer to stand they can easily slide under tables and out of the way.
